

PRESS RELEASE

Volunteer opportunities at Oriel Ynys Môn – Anglesey’s Premier Museum and Art Gallery

Would you like the chance to spend some time working in a creative and vibrant environment with enthusiastic and knowledgeable staff, where no two days are ever the same? If yes, then a volunteering opportunity at Oriel Ynys Môn might be just what you are looking for.

Oriel Ynys Môn is Anglesey’s premier Museum and Art Gallery. Located in Llangefni it is recognised as the islands flagship for the arts and culture, welcoming over 90,000 visitors a year.

If you are enthusiastic and passionate about the cultural and creative life of the island and are able to give a few hours to help us, there are many exciting volunteer openings available.

If you are interested in working with our collections you could have the opportunity to work behind the scenes and assist us in putting up exhibitions. Those who enjoy working with the public could be part of our visitor experience team and help with guided tours, education, family activities, events and greeting our visitors.

Volunteering with Oriel Ynys Môn can offer many rewards from learning new skills to developing a CV and giving back to your community.

Staff at the Oriel are keen to welcome Volunteers on board, and see them as an invaluable resource to the daily running of this popular and much loved venue.

Anyone wishing to express an interest in Volunteering, or who would like to find out more should contact the Oriel on: - 01248 724444 / orielynysmon@ynysmon.gov.uk